Dear old Trafalgar
Hear thou our hymn of praise.
Hearts full of love we raise
Proudly to thee.
Thy splendour never falls,
Truth dwells within thy walls,
Thy beauty still enthralls
Dear T.C.S.

Through thee we honour
Truth, virtue, loveliness.
Thy friendships e'er possess
Our constancy.
Thy spirit fills us through,
So we'll be ever true
To our dear blue and blue
Of T.C.S.

O! Alma Mater:
How can we from thee part?
Thou only hast our heart,
Dearest of schools.
Thy glory we shall see
Wherever we may be,
Still love of T.C.S.
Our future rules.

Mr. Palmer and Mr. McClure brought their own cheering squads to help boost the teachers' spirits at the student/staff ball game.

Mr. Ron Bowman was feted at a retirement shower in the fall where he received wonderful household goodies and was presented with a new TV! Twenty-eight years of faithful service to Trafalgar!

This year's yearbook was truly a challenge. I came to it at the beginning of the year not knowing the first thing that goes into making a yearbook. The only thing I knew was how to take pictures. The rest I had to learn for myself. Mrs. Metselaar and Mrs. McKay were a great help. They both had to teach me virtually everything that deals with layouts and developing. For that I would like to thank them.

Other people helped me a great deal. I would like to thank them all, especially Lisa and Lesley. Lisa was always there making me work when I was not in the mood, and Lesley worked on layouts and helped me do developing. Without their help I would never have gotten the book completed.

I would just like to wish the next editor Good Luck, and say stick at it - the end is very rewarding.

Hope you like the book!

Editor, Samantha Bentley

Senior Dinner

This traditional year-end celebration honours all our graduating students and gives representatives of school organizations an opportunity to reflect on their activities over the school year. Tears flowed freely as memories were shared and we realized how dear our fellow classmates had become and how very much they would be missed. In the immortal words of Browning we can sum up our year in verse:

How sad and mad and bad it was!
But then, how it was sweet!

Commencement

On Friday, September the sixth we began our new school year with the traditional ceremony to honour those who had arrived on scholarship, and our prize-winners from the past year. A total of eighteen scholarships for academic excellence were awarded along with numerous prizes, awards and bursaries. Grace Ngai entertained us with a beautiful piano recital, reminding us of the many-faceted talents of our students, not all of whom can be recognized on any one night. Following an inspiring valedictory address by Allison Christ, refreshments were enjoyed in the dining room.

Desperately Seeking Beauty!

Okay Shannon, what's so funny?

Who me? I wasn't writing on the wall.

Hey dudes . . . watch this!

Smile Zoe, I'm trying to look cute.

Do you really know what you're eating?

Cheese!

It's mine . . . No! it's mine!

Did I miss breakfast?

Another one?

Now remember Nicole, OVER the net!

Spirit Day

Cheers erupted from the school yard as houses gathered, mustered their ranks and raised their battle cries. Events of skill and daring were tempting our students to exhibit their strengths ... eating large vats of jello without utensils ... racing the length of a tremendous field with heavy water buckets only to watch their now scanty contents trickle into heavily guarded receptacles ... dressing one another while battling incredible handicaps ... all of this and more. When the final air band performance left us wanting to call in the talent scouts we were ready to call it a night. Special thanks to Dora Arulanandam, the Athletic Association, House Captains and all for a terrific time.

The S.C.F. Bazaar

This year our bazaar was a great challenge for me and for the whole SCF group, but we worked very hard together. We outdid ourselves, raising approx. $4200 which allowed us to generously support our foster children, the Christopher Robin Home, Food-Share, the United Way, and other worthy charities.

Each student worked together as one big family, devoting her time to help others less fortunate. Special thanks to Mrs. Davis who gave of herself to organize the whole event, and to the public for their essential support. I wish best of luck to the next president! Have a great year!

Reporter, SCF President, Jane Chin

Fashion Show

The fashion show this year was a big success. After many weeks of preparation, practices, phone calls and fittings everything finally came together.

Much to our delight, three male models joined our girls for the presentation of formal wear, adding just the right mood by their presence.

Clothes were provided by India Fashions, Ruby's, Ricki's and Garbo's, with Valentino's graciously giving of their time to cut and style the girls' hair.

My special thanks to Mrs. McKay and all those others who helped me pull it off!

Reporter - Lesley Forde

House Plays

The houseplays this year were performed on December 4th. The award for best play was given to Carter House for 'The Lottery' by Shirley Jackson. Each play was a successful one due to the excellent performances of all the actresses and directors. I would like to thank the crew for all their help. Good Job Everyone, and thanks!

Ramona Grainge

Hare House director, Jayne Burness chose 'Hands Across the Sea' which involved mistaken identity comedy and pseudo high society carryings-on. The laughs from the audience proved it was well-received. Farewell's director, Tonya Hamilton presented a confusing comedy that had us rolling in the aisles! Nicole Hohenkirk and Sue Crawford gave splendid performances as conniving roommates, with Sue winning best actress award for her efforts.

Judy's Flowers and Gifts is pleased to sponsor this page

'The Lottery' is a spine-chilling psychological drama of the type generally to be found in the Twilight Zone. Directed by Wendy Bruce, it had us sitting on the edges of our chairs as we anticipated the gruesome climax. Well done girls!

Maxwell's 'Sorry Wrong Number' was a suspense thriller selected by director Karen McCartney. Seema Nundy as a bed-ridden neurotic impressed the judges enough to win the adjudicator's award, and tried our patience with her whining ploys to be heard. Top notch performances all 'round!

Semi-Formal

Every year the school starts with a new idea of entertainment but the semi-formal dance is like a tradition, full of life and joy. This year our school invited Trinity College and most of our girls had their dates from Trinity. They had a great time with them, dancing all the time and eating the snacks with their boyfriends. The rest of the girls, whom I cannot forget to mention were divided into two groups - the majority found cute partners whom they tried to get to know as they were dancing, and the others danced alone, or watched, or took chips up to their rooms so that after the dance they could regain some of the calories dancing wears away.

The dance was good; all of the girls were in beautiful dresses in exciting colours, full of life which had a good reflection on this dance party. Before I forget, Mr. Kamcke admitted in chapel the next morning that it was an excellent party. Naturally we were all too tired to look towards a new week of studying, but our memories will be with us forever.

Christmas Dinner

Christmas month is the month every person waits for patiently, especially us, because after four months full of tests, homework and exams, we want to change the atmosphere of the boring routine of school life. Every year our school tries to end it in a special night, by preparing a festive dinner. Most girls bring their families, which brings the added pleasure of being able to introduce our families to each other. The staff in the kitchen get very excited too, and at my table the coffee and tea were mixed together, however the taste was not bad.

The Christmas dinner was not just food and talking, but a chance to sing together the traditional carols of the season, and listen while piano solos were delightfully presented. A small play put on by Mrs. Clarke's drama students ended our evening, made us laugh and leave the school with happy faces.

Marika Joannidis

Ski Day

Ski Day is the funniest day of our life! Everybody enjoys it in her own way as she experiences for the first, tenth or thousandth time the thrill of the cold and the challenge of the hills. Girls who knew how to ski enjoyed it by running the steepest hills while the others who did not know how to ski enjoyed lessons from a pro instructor. He made us nervous in the end, by saying always to "snowplow" as we were falling down. Everyone of us was laughing at each other as we looked like white balls rolling in the powder and counted how many times everybody was falling down. The next day everybody suffered pains in their muscles which made sitting in chairs and walking very hard to do.

Marika Joannidis

Is Miss Moore gone yet?

Okay, let's try again. Now everybody look at the camera!

We weren't doing anything.

What do you think? Is it me?

Half time . . .

Messages

... from our Principal:

As I sit down to write this annual message the sun is shining brightly, the grounds are in full bloom and all seems well with the world and our school. Obviously, there are some dark days behind us; they are ever with us. Still, the feeling persists that this has indeed been a golden year at Trafalgar Castle.

Our school prospers. Laughter rings through the halls. Serious study is evident in preparation for the upcoming final examinations. Sports teams play with vigour and, often enough, triumphantly. Our upcoming graduates are torn between loyalty to the school they have come to love and eager dreams of anticipation for the adventures that await them beyond our gates.

We came together in September, some new, many old, to face the rigours of learning and living together. The mix has not always been easy. But now that the end is in sight we have grown into a full-blown community, tolerant of our differences, appreciative of the wealth of qualities that each member has brought to the school family.

When, years from now, we pick up this book and leaf through its pages memories will flood back. Some will be sad but most, I feel certain, will be happy. The future awaits us to be faced and conquered; the past, as represented in these pages, is a treasure house that will sustain us as we face that future. I hope that for many of you this past year will be remembered as a golden room in that treasure house.

Best of Luck, Mr. and Mrs. Chin

... and from our Dean:

"There are those who must have thought us daft
From the way we cried together and the way we laughed.
Well, some trust in chariots and some in big machines
Some of you save diamonds, baby, some of us save dreams."

... Rod McKuen

This past year you have laughed and cried together, studied and played together, lived together. All this is not always easy but it is a growing experience. Save your dreams and use them.

Good health and happiness,
Ann Wiggins

Our Head Girl

As my days at Trafalgar become numbered, I look back at the events which made this special castle a place to remember. The happy times with close friends; the late night studying for a particularly difficult test; and the constant buzz of activity found within our familiar walls, are daily occurences in the bustle of our school life. One notices that I include the pronoun, 'our' when speaking of T.C.S. Perhaps, it is because many of us leaving Trafalgar feel a part of our character remains at T.C.S. when we depart. Although not all of our experiences are enjoyable, a tolerant and appreciative attitude is developed. Our school provides us with extracurricular activities and a multitude of diverse personalities to learn and benefit from. The opportunity for success is available at T.C.S. and I hope that all of you utilize this chance. Set high goals for yourself and you will achieve! Best of luck in all of your future endeavours!

love,
Nicole Taylor

Cross Country Run

Always a popular event with students, and well supported by the surrounding citizens is our annual cross-country run. Weeks of jogging around the circuit, pacing ourselves against our rivals, and warm-up heats to inspire a truly competitive spirit always result in a great race. This year Mr. Palmer added his own special touch - a change in the route - to make sure we were on our toes! Great fun for everyone!

Swim season is kicked off with

At a fast-paced meet held this spring houses competed against each other for awards in freestyle, crawl, backstroke, relay and butterfly. Even though olympic scouts needn't have worried if they missed this event, we all had a most impressive time. Most fun is always the surprise relay which closes the meet with laughter and sends the thoroughly-splashed spectators to sog their way home. A great time was had by all!

Gymnastics

The gymnastics club is small but enthusiastic. We work on various pieces of equipment from day to day, stressing more progressions and body control. A favourite piece of equipment seems to be the trampoline of course!

TEAM MEMBERS SHOWN AT RIGHT INCLUDE: Shannon Kohler, Mrs. Carr and Charlyn Long in back and Rushmi Dua and Kim Tucker in front.

Clubs

Biweekly meetings of clubs cater to the diverse interests of our students in informal, afterclass sessions. During these meetings our school newspaper is created, yearbook pages are discussed and set, photographs are developed, enlarged and reduced, games are even played. Something for everyone is our intention; everyone must do something is our rule.

A year of strenuous exercise including sit-ups, leg lifts and push-ups was ordered by Miss Underhill, who was determined to mold us (read that 'break us') into shape. Successful or not she always kept us up to date with the latest tunes.

In Ping Pong our faithful leader Mr. McClure can sometimes be heard chuckling over his jokes but the rest of us just bounce along and try not to make too much racket.

Carolyn Burns

Mr. Wylie has skillfully taught us which buttons to press to release the secrets of the world of computers. Games soon gave way to more intellectual pursuits as we gained expertise and confidence. It's been a pressing experience.

Lisa Mahommed

Reading club is very relaxing after a stressful day at school. In the tranquility of the Common Room we slip away into worlds of mystery, romance, intrigue and war. The over-worked student's mind is soothed and temporarily given a key to her private heaven.

Educational Experience Week

Casting aside the protective walls of our castle all 200 Trafalgar students and faculty burst forth upon the wide world early in March. Tasting, feeling, learning, laughing, we tried our hands at many new and exciting things and came away with delicious memories to savour and new skills to polish. Certificates in CPR were earned after rigorous drill and study by one group; another bunch of novices took lessons and spills at Blue Mountain while yet another team gained work experience in Toronto's finest hotels.

Excursions to Washington, DC, Quebec City, Ottawa and New York yielded such benefits as private interviews with senior politicians and encounters with glamorous movie stars. Some of our students studied the aliens at local Day Care centres while others found they were aliens when they boarded a space flight to Jupiter!

An interesting selection of activities, carefully planned and closely supervised made this year's Educational Experience Week a success.

More of our March Break Activities

On the right Lisa and Lori hold up their artistic achievements for the approval of . . . is it really? . . . yes, it's Robert Wagner! Our group below basks in the afternoon sun beneath the most famous timepiece in the world - London's Big Ben.

What could be more Parisian than French bread and Cheese? Sheila and Petra believe in getting down to basics. On the right the whole group together in Washington DC, while below our students cluster on the sidewalks of New York!

The Making of a Movie

On the 21 of September, our school building and grounds were used for the filming of 'Mafia Princess', a TV movie starring Tony Curtis and Susan Lucci. Some twenty to thirty of our girls received a day's pay as extras and are now immortalized on film, but many more came to watch and now know what it is to quake in their boots when a director yells 'Silence'! A special meeting of our Alumni Council held here on the same day allowed our old girls to share in the fun. As it happened our school was also one of the designated stops on a local house tour held on the same day, and so we had quite the busy time!

We decided it would be a good day to offer a trip to Canada's Wonderland for as many of the students as could be persuaded to leave and this cleared the building a little. It was a day we won't soon forget.

Elizabeth, Tiffany and Karen pose winsomely for the camera before the Senior Dinner.

Whaddaya think of this, eh?

Samantha, Lucinda, Rachel, Tammy, Benna and Karla audition for the 'Crest' Toothpaste commercial.

Marika, don't worry. I'll buy you another.

The Interview

The audition - the time - the emotions ... our success! These are the important stages the cast and crew of The Interview, by Jean von Italie lived through.

The audition: nerves on edge, the 'good lucks' and 'well dones' were passed from auditioner to auditioner.

The time: from January to April practices every week, and then those unforgettable Sunday night rehearsals with our tired bodies dragging across the stage.

The emotions: yeahs and ughs! The laughter of our mistakes - the nervous release with Deb's "Ain't She Sweet!"

Our success: Last but not least putting on the play for the audiences at Trafalgar and at Toronto's Harbourd Collegiate, which were both good learning experiences. With special thanks to Mrs. Clarke and Lisa Watson who helped us reach that "final stage".

Reporter, Briar Jamieson

The Cinderella Complex

The grade nine class enjoyed the opportunity to present our play before an audience on Drama Night. As a class we learned how to concentrate on the characters we were portraying. As individuals, we also learned to get along with others when the times got tough. There were a few times when we all felt like throwing in the towel but we stuck it out, and hung on to what we could. Without the guidance, good judgment and encouragement of Mrs. Large we would surely have given up long before our big night. As it was, we had a successful debut and lots of fun.

Track and Field Meet

On the Friday of our last week of classes we traditionally hold our track day and this year the day was sunny and very hot. New records were set in broadjump, highjump and also in the track events, which was somewhat surprising as our best athletes were competing in Ottawa on the same day.

We made a spectacular showing in the final event of the day - a relay against a team of eight teachers. Try as they might, they were hopelessly outdistanced by our house captains and subs. (Actually it was extremely close but who remembers the technicalities?) Great work girls!

Ladies Guild

Congratulations to the 1985-86 Graduates From the Trafalgar Ladies Guild

As we celebrate our fifth Anniversary we would like to take this opportunity to thank all past and present members of the Ladies Guild. It is due to their efforts that we have been able to contribute so much to school life.

Our volunteers are capable, enthusiastic women, a pleasure to work with, and our success is due to the wide range of their interests and talents.

Come out and contribute your ideas; we welcome them .

The Executive Committee

Our Juniors take special pleasure in enjoying the Senior Dinner - on the left the grade eights, Carrie and Stephanie giggle over the speeches, but the grade nines, above, show a bit more 'sophistication'!

Ladies Guild members N. Munro, J. Howells, E. Shumovich, and J. Steel gather in the chapel to approve the installation of their newly-donated carpet.
